

A Spiritual Bailout

Bail outs and rescue plans. Mortgage foreclosures and bank failures. Unemployment going up and the Dow going down. You wonder if you will have a job after today or if your company will be in business tomorrow.

Right sizing, down sizing, mergers, acquisitions, layoffs, outsourcing, market changes, budget cuts, changes in leadership, betrayals and disappointments: any one of these can tip the balance in your work life and your sense of well being. And with that tipping comes a sense of despair and desperation. You begin to ask what will the future hold and where will you be in this future.

Are you in need of a spiritual bailout?

Take heart, because your boss has not changed. He is the same as He was yesterday, is today and will be tomorrow. For your boss is God; and you work for God's company. The executive management is still the same: God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Ghost. And just like every other day, you will be paid in full with blessings too numerous to count.

You are a shareholder in a stock that will never fluctuate; that can withstand all storms; and that can outsmart the best economist. It has its own dividend reinvestment program that multiplies exponentially in love.

And while you may not know who you will be working for next month or even if you will be working, you do know whose you are. God is the one constant in your life. He is the alpha and the omega. Remember: before the trouble came, God set an appointment, a precise time, to release you. A spiritual bailout is waiting for you. Ask and you will receive.

*We know that all things work together for the good for those who love God, who are called according to his purpose.
Romans 8:28*

Westina Matthews, Ph. D.
c. 2009